New, expanded with regional, industry, and international sessions

You asked for an expanded program on economics statistics...and NABE's got it for you. We've taken the traditional professional development seminar and added sessions on regional, industry, and international data. You'll take away knowledge and skills you'll use on your first day back in the office.

You'll be prepared to...

- Find the correct economic data more efficiently by knowing what to look for and where to find it.
- Evaluate the data by knowing what it is—and what it's not.
- Contact the agency experts who can explain the data.
- Employ the techniques used by other professionals, taught here through "case studies."

You'll connect with instructors and other attendees who will become valuable resources... including those who:

- Provide data—government agencies, Federal Reserve Board, and private sector professionals

- Use data—economists, planners, analysts, and researchers
- Offer special services—like customized data, forecasts, and economic studies

Here's the preliminary schedule...for ongoing updates go to www.nabe.com/stats2008
